Our mission: Jumping Mouse transforms children's lives by providing expressive mental health therapy for as long as necessary. We nurture each child's healthy development and supportive relationships at home and in the community.

Jumping Mouse Children's Center is a Port Townsend nonprofit agency that provides mental health services for the children of Jefferson County, ages 2 to 12. Children receive therapy at Jumping Mouse for a variety of reasons, generally when the family has experienced trauma and the young child is deeply affected. Jumping Mouse works with children referred from teachers, healthcare providers, domestic violence/sexual assault advocates, and child protection workers, as well as families. More than 80% of Jumping Mouse clients live in low-income households. No child is ever turned away because their family cannot pay for services.

Therapy at Jumping Mouse is child-directed, long-term, relational, and depth oriented. We work with children for as long as needed and follow their lead in therapy, using expressive modalities such as sand tray, play, and art. Our therapists work from a developmental, attachment based, and trauma-informed lens to support children who are suffering from a range of psychological difficulties and complex life experiences. Psychological difficulties include depression, anxiety, aggression, and disorganized behaviors. Difficult life experiences include abuse, neglect, grief, domestic violence, family breakdown, and trauma. Our skilled therapists aim to create a space where children feel seen and valued as whole beings, helping them to express their inner lives and make meaning of their life experiences. Through this therapeutic focus on the child's inner life, children often increase their resiliency and find solutions to outer difficulties. Our therapists work with parents and caregivers throughout the therapy process.

Each employee of Jumping Mouse Children's Center is integral to carrying out the organization's mission and transforming lives in our community.
